A DOCUMENT OF LASTING PROPORTIONS WHEN CONSIDERED IN THE CONTEXT OF GENERAL CRIMINAL INVESTIGATIVE LITERATURE."

HOWEVER, HE SAID, "THIS WAS A QUESTION OF THE GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATING ITSELF. ONE OF THE REASONS FOR THE COMMISSION'S APPOINTMENT WAS TO ALLAY THE DOUBTS OF THE AMERICAN PUBLIC AS WELL AS THOSE EXPRESSED BY FOREIGNERS.

"HAD OUTSIDE EXPERTS BEEN BROUGHT IN, THE PEOPLE WHO WERE CRITICAL WOULD HAVE HAD MORE FAITH IN THE CREDIBILITY OF THE COMMISSION."

OSTERBURG, NOTING THAT A PUBLIC OPINION POLL TAKEN AFTER THE REPORT WAS RELEASED SHOWED 55 PER CENT OF THOSE QUESTIONED WERE DISSATISFIED, SAID:

"I DON'T THINK ANY INVESTIGATION WHICH GIVES ONLY 45 PER CENT SATISFACTION WITH THE RESULT IS AN [illegible] STANDING SUCCESS."
